Inspiring people to enjoy life to the max, be their best selves and do amazing work has always been my passion. I combine that with 25+ years of transformation delivery experience in the US, Europe, Asia and Latin America and Canada, to deliver keynote speeches that help audiences see things in a new light. I use disruptive new thinking, humor, statistics and real life experience to champion the profession I love and help audiences see the power and value of transformational leadership and transformation teams.

Jennifer Kenny has presented at the Hilton Women in Leadership Conference, at Stanford Executive Briefings and at conferences in the U.S. and Europe, and won a number of entrepreneurship awards.

She is sought-after speaker and expert on information technology and gender diversity.

She brings a depth of experience, warmth and passion to her speaking. Her speaking engagements are a mix of new thinking, research, passion and compelling stories.

She has written a column for Women in Technology, International (WITI), is a contributor to Women Mean business (WMB) and Women in Focus – The Commonwealth Bank's women's leadership forum.

Jennifer is active in women's forums and events in the San Francisco Bay Area. She is on the Board of the Global Women's Leadership Network
